There was a very colorful setting at the "Fashion Show" held under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. on Wednesday evening. The stage was beautifully decorated and there was a profusion of flowers and plants.

Three local firms: Mrs. Wilson, J. V. Berscht & Sons and The Ladies' Shoppe, each gave a splendid display of ladies' wear and the showing indicated that the ladies need go no further than Didsbury to obtain the latest in style and quality in ladies' wear.

Mrs. N. Hunsberger, Mrs. Lila Wriggleworth, Ann Jackson, Dorothy Hagel, Ruby Sproule and Marjorie Burns acted as mannequins for J. V. Berscht & Sons and Mrs. Wilson while Mrs. C. R. Ford, Mrs. Fleury, Miss Lucille Smith, Evelyn Liesemer, Grace Loader and Ruth Petersen acted as models for the Didsbury Ladies' Shoppe.

Many of the flowers and plants for decorations were supplied by H. W. Chambers.

Mrs. McGhee made a very efficient director and Miss Evelyn Liesemer and Mr. O. Kirk provided the music for the evening.

At the close of the show, tea was served by the members of the I.O.D.E.

Mr. George Julien and family moved on Monday to Bowden where George has a position with the Alberta Dairy Pool. Mr. Julien who for years had been with the Crystal Dairy here, always took a great interest in sports in the town and will be missed by the different sports organizations.

Obituary.

DANIEL KLINCK

An oldtimer of the Didsbury district passed away on Saturday, March 27th, when Daniel Klinck died at his home.

He was born at Elmira, Ontario, on April 6th, 1865. At an early age he went to Nebraska to live. Here he was united in marriage with Mary Jane Eddington in 1895. They moved to Orchard Farm, Missouri, in 1903. After residing there for three years they came to Didsbury in May of 1906 and lived at his farm at Westcott until 1925, when they moved to four miles west of town, where he lived until his death. He was 71 years, 11 months and 21 days old.

Mr. Klinck was a familiar figure around town and was highly respected by all with whom he came in contact. He took a large part in the building up of the community, as in addition to his farming interests he had a part in the building up of the town also, having built the Klinck (Opera House) Block in 1919. During his long residence in the district he acquired a large circle of friends, all of whom regretted to learn of his passing.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife; six children, Rose, Edward, Earl, Ethel, Ruby and Ervin, all of whom reside in the Didsbury district. Besides these there are eleven grandchildren and six brothers, Charlie, of Kitchener, Ontario; Willie, of Waterloo, Ontario; Henry, Albert and John, of Elmira, Ontario, and Louis at Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. J. R. Geeson, assisted by Rev. C. J. Hallman, were held on Tuesday afternoon at the United Church, Didsbury, followed by a short service at Westcott United Church. Interment was made in Westcott Cemetery, under direction of the Durrer Funeral Home.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Elah Shantz, Wilfred Snyder, John Allen, Henry Fischer, Jess Tuggle, Norman Tuggle, Emmor Tuggle and Jim Hughes.

MRS. DAN DIPPEL

With the death of Mrs. Dan Dippel, which occurred at her home on Wednesday morning, another oldtimer of the district passed away. She had been a resident here for 31 years.

Mrs. Dippel (nee Mary Hunsberger) was born at Clifford, Ontario, on December 19, 1861. She was married to Mr. Dan Dippel at De Witt, Nebraska, on April 27, 1886. They lived in Nebraska until 1906, when they moved with their family to Didsbury, and have lived on their farm west of town since that time.

She was a member of the Evangelical Church and had taken a very active part in the work of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Dippel celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in April of last year.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, three sons and one daughter: George, Mose and Ezra, of Didsbury and Mrs. Verne Shantz of Olds.

The funeral services will be held at the Evangelical Church on Friday April 2nd at 2 o'clock p.m.

S. R. Botheras of Altario, Alta., unloaded a carload of stock and effects on Wednesday. He will farm in this district.

Will Celebrate for Coronation

That Didsbury will celebrate the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth was decided at a meeting of various organizations held at the school on Tuesday evening.

Representatives of the Town Council, School Board, Canadian Legion, I.O.D.E., and 20th Century Club were present. Mayor Chambers was elected chairman and Mr. C. E. Reiber, secretary.

All the school children from both town and rural schools will be invited and will be asked to gather at the C.P.R. park, from which they will parade to the school grounds. Suitable exercises and sports will be held.

Arrangements are being made to present each student with a souvenir button.

The Canadian Legion will make arrangements for the parade and the following committees were appointed:

Invitation and advertising: Dr. H. C. Liesemer and J. E. Gooder.

Finance: Messrs. Adhead, Smith and Scott.

Sport: Messrs. Kirk, Ford, Kaufman and Bill Ross.

Decoration: Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Mortimer, Mrs. McGhee, Messrs. Wallace and Pitt.

Refreshments: Messrs. Brusso, Kirby, T. Royds, Halton, Lunt, C. S. Mortimer and Bert Fisher.

Curling Notes.

The Didsbury curlers came home with the Macdonald Cup on Monday night after playing their challenge game with Bowden.

The Pitt rink was in great trim and beat the Henderson rink by a score of 22-11.

The Marks (Bowden) rink, however, got the best of McCloy by a score of 11-9.

The personnel of the Didsbury rinks was:

Pitt, skip, McGhee, McNaughton and Wordie.

McCloy, skip, McLeod, Reiber and Studer.

The lady curlers had a novelty bonspiel last Thursday. Twenty-four players took part and only once was there a substitute needed. The prizes went to Mrs. Topley, 1st; Mrs. Phillipson, 2nd; Mrs. McGhee, 3rd, and Emma Befus, 4th.

Didsbury Retain McDonald Cup.

The Didsbury rinks retained the McDonald trophy when they beat the Carstairs challengers yesterday by a comfortable margin.

McCloy took a long lead over Donnelly in the afternoon with a score of 21 to 14.

The evening game between Pitt and Lee resulted in tie 16-16. Pitt was leading 16-11 at the last end but Lee got a five ender coming home to tie the game.

Farmers Await Action Of Govt. On Seed Plans

With seeding time three weeks away, and less than that in event of a sudden break in the weather, agricultural Alberta is seriously pondering the problem of obtaining relief seed grain, fuel and fodder.

Lacking definite announcement of policy on the part of the government, many municipal secretaries have been accepting applications and holding them, until such time as specific instructions are forthcoming. Many of the applications now being taken are for seed grain only.

It is understood the policy to be followed in Alberta this year will be along the same general lines as adopted in Saskatchewan. Local bankers admitted that they had been approached on the plan, which calls upon the municipality to arrange for financing under a Provincial-Dominion guarantee. But, until such times as necessary legislation is passed, they said, it would be impossible to work out the guarantee.

Municipal officials stated the proposed plan would not mean a great deal of difference to them. Last year they issued relief under the Agricultural Relief Advances Act. This year the procedure will be the same, except that instead of providing orders which were paid by the government, they will be forced to handle the finance themselves, when arrangements between the Dominion and province, and then the bank, is approved.

The Agricultural Relief Advances Act empowers the municipality to pass a by-law authorizing advances for relief seed, fuel and fodder. It must be approved by the government, which guarantees one-half of any ultimate loss. The municipality takes a first lien on the crop of the farmer to whom the advances have been made, as its security.

Evangelical Church Notes.

Special Evangelistic Services will be held every evening this week at eight o'clock, except Saturday evening. A special children's service will be held on Monday April 5 at four p.m.

Next Sunday morning the subject of discussion will be "Living the Resurrection Life," and in the evening the pastor will speak from the words "Come Unto Me."

School Orchestra Give Broadcast

The Didsbury School Orchestra broadcast over CFCN last Thursday evening attracted a lot of attention locally, and many favorable comments were heard from the listeners.

Besides selections from the orchestra, a solo was given by Florence Chamberlin and a trio by Lois Edwards, Eileen Geeson and Florence Chamberlin.

After the broadcast the youngsters had a good time taking in the sights of the city and met at the York Hotel for supper at 11 p.m. and returned home on the midnight train.

Restoration Of Fertility

The task of restoring moisture reserves and resultant fertility of the soil of the prairies is a big one. It is quite evidently one which will have to be undertaken on large scale plan before wide-spread results can be ensured and will have to be carried out on a co-operative basis with the backing of well matured and carefully thought out plans.

In this column some months ago it was pointed out that deserts can be, and sometimes are, made-made. No one who has been observant and has given some consideration to what has been taking place since this country was settled who will not contribute to the belief that to some degree the devastation which has been wrought by dust storms and drought on the open prairies in the past few years is attributable to wasteful and heedless methods of cultivation of the soil.

To what extent lack of moisture which brought about conditions from which agriculture has suffered so seriously in the past five or six years can be charged up against cultivation methods and other doubtful practices is problematical and cannot be scientifically measured, but that the severity of the drought was accentuated by such practices is undoubted and certainly some of the damage wrought by dust storms could have been averted had other methods been pursued.

It may be taken for granted, however, that the damage done is not irreparable and that adoption of appropriate methods of cultivation and conservation, intelligently applied, can go a long way towards avoidance of repetition of serious loss and may even, in some instances, improve the productivity of the soil. If human agencies can create desert conditions it is not unreasonable to suppose that the same agencies can undo the harm which has been caused, though this process of rehabilitation may be a lengthy and expensive one.

Some valuable evidence of the feasibility of man-made plans to restore moisture and productivity to the soil was given recently by W. L. McTavish, managing editor of the Winnipeg Tribune in an address to the Regina Board of Trade when he outlined the satisfactory outcome of a rehabilitation project in Manitoba in the following words:

"A year ago we damned the outlet where the waters of Lake Manitoba descend to Lake Winnipeg. The level of Lake Manitoba was brought back in a year to its former point and then a year later we'll see the Portage Plains which had become deep wells as the waters of Lake Manitoba receded, were brought back to former levels. There were districts in the Portage Plains which had no rainfall last year after the first week in June which nevertheless produced good crops. The answer was to be found in a higher water table in the subsoil, consequent upon the higher water levels of Lake Manitoba. There was moisture underlying the Portage Plains last summer and the wheat roots went down and found it."

The result of this Manitoba experiment should furnish a lot of consolation to the people of the prairie provinces. It demonstrates that with forethought and the application of understandable scientific principles to the problem man can do something more than just sit down supinely and hope for rain; that Nature will help him who helps himself; that there is real hope for the future by the application of intelligent action.

It is true that not all sections of the prairie provinces could be benefited by a project similar to the Lake Manitoba dam scheme, but other projects and other methods are adapted to other districts, as appropriately pointed out by Mr. McTavish when he said:

"We have got to take advantage of every aid we can—strip farming, binding grasses, legume crops and everything of that sort that we can use to aid in this work, and we have got to work everlastingly to impound in the west every drop of moisture that falls from the heavens. We must impound it by means of dams, we must impound it by means of trees and grass lands. We must bring up the water table in the subsoil. We must work to conserve moisture by breaking up the drying winds.

"It is a job for the next ten or twenty years, but we should be at it with all the energy and all the brain power we can command. We have done a good deal towards destroying this western country. Now we have the job of reclaiming it."

A good deal has been said recently about governments being urged to adopt crop insurance schemes which may or may not be economically feasible. Whether such insurance plans are put into effect or not, undoubtedly projects and practices which will effectively conserve moisture for the benefit of the crops will do more for agriculture and will probably be more remunerative and less expensive in the long run, and hence, cheaper and better insurance against one of the major and periodic hazards.

Population Figures

Gain Of About 61,000 On Prairies In Past Five Years

A gain of about 61,000 in population of the prairie provinces in the past five years is shown in final figures of the 1936 census published by the Dominion bureau of statistics.

The total of 2,414,891 for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, compared with 2,353,529 when the previous census for those provinces was taken in 1931.

Following is the population by provinces with the previous quinquennial census figures in brackets: Manitoba, 711,216 (700,139); Saskatchewan, 930,893 (921,785); and Alberta 772,782 (731,605).

Figures for cities with populations of 10,000 or over were given as follows: Brandon, 16,461; Calgary, 83,407; Edmonton, 85,774; Lethbridge, 13,523; Moose Jaw, 19,805; Prince Albert, 11,049; Regina, 53,354; St. Boniface, 16,275; Saskatoon, 41,734; and Winnipeg, 215,814.

A New Star

Find Celestial Neighbor Of The World, But Some Distance Away

Astronomers have catalogued a new celestial "neighbor" of the world—if you can call 42 trillion miles a neighborly distance. Dr. Willen J. Luyten, head of the University of Minnesota's department of astronomy, announced discovery of the star in the constellation Aquarius and six or seven light years away. Dr. Luyten said the new star was close enough so its arc across the heavens was equalled by only 12 or 14 stars. The new star is 25,000 to 30,000 times fainter than the sun. It is 14.3 magnitude, and the human eye can see only down to the sixth magnitude.

Venus is better fitted to support human life than any other planet except the earth.

Great Britain's Warning

Rearmament Is Not For War But To Ensure Peace

Great Britain is loading her revolver. Moreover she is doing it in full view of a watching world, not through boastfulness but simply as a convincing demonstration that the old, starchy-eyed, mush-minded days are over when her ministers thought that a Geneva resolution was a substitute for ten dreadnaughts. When these ministers to-day look out over the effervescing continent of Europe, they are not looking for beloved allies for whom to die but for possible enemies whose predatory attacks must be repelled. They want peace with everybody. They do not want war with anybody.—Montreal Star.

HE DARE NOT MOVE IN BED

Nights Were Torture Through Lumbago

Only those who have suffered from lumbago know how exceedingly painful it can be. And when they discover a remedy for this complaint, they are anxious to pass on the good news to other sufferers. Let this man tell you how Kruschen brought him relief:

"I had a bad attack of lumbago. When I got into bed I had to stay in that position—I could not move for pain. I didn't know what to take or what to do. I was advised to try Kruschen Salts and I am very grateful I did so. After taking a few doses I felt relief, and after taking one large bottle, I am glad to say that my lumbago had entirely gone, and I have not had the slightest trace of it coming back."—G.A.V.

Kruschen is a combination of numerous mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness, and so help to keep the bloodstream pure.

In Spite Of Handicap

Performance Of Opera By Blind Actors Was Excellent

Blind man's buff is an old game, but a blind man's opera is something new. Sheffield has been to see and to encourage a brave effort made by some of its blind people. An opera written by Mr. A. Varley, one of the city's blind men, has been performed by blind men and women at Sharrow Grange Hall, Sheffield, England, and the performance was excellent, the actors moving about with wonderful assurance. Called "The Stowaway", the opera was the first written by the blind composer, and the entire production was a magnificent proof of the way in which handicaps can be overcome by courage. 2193

Miss Batten's record flight from England to New Zealand was made in 11 days, 57 minutes.

National Anthem Checked Demonstration At Canada-England Hockey Game

Old England gave a tip to hockey authorities overseas on how to stop a noisy demonstration at a hockey game.

The secret is to play the National Anthem.

It was done during the Canada-England game at Wembley before 11,000 spectators when the game was halted 15 minutes with fans hurling debris of all sorts on the ice in protest over banishment of two players who fought.

As the strains of "God Save the King" were heard the audience stood rigidly at attention and the demonstration was over. By the time the anthem had ended even the most partisan had recovered their composure and the game proceeded.

Britain's Automobile King Gave Millions In Making Philanthropic History

England has awakened to the fact that it has a real Santa Claus, who works at his benevolent trade the year round, and all England is excited about it. Because it is almost a first-time experience for the little island—this money-giving tale of the man who was reared as plain Bill Morris and was made by his King a member of the peerage under the title of first Baron Nuffield.

For years Lord Nuffield, Britain's most authentic automobile king, has been giving away sums ranging from $100,000 to $500,000 to various hospitals and medical research funds. It is a sort of tribute he pays to his boyhood dream. He wanted to be a surgeon. Poverty and fate decreed otherwise. But these gifts were mere flea-bites to what he was preparing to do. He has made philanthropic history for Britain in recent months. He donated to Oxford University the sum of $6,250,000 for the founding of a great institution for medical research. In November he was present at what is called a "convocation" of the university. He sat on the platform with the learned big wigs. Suddenly Lord Nuffield rose and electrified his hearers. He said he had been told that a great medical research institution, such as he had in mind, would need at least ten million dollars. Therefore, he proposed to raise his own ante from $6,250,000 to $10,000,000.

While the English public still was dazzled by this, Lord Nuffield came to bat again. He announced he would give a fund of $10,000,000 to help the depressed areas in South Wales. He said he did it to give practical shape to the current expression of good will towards the new King George Sixth, to do anything he could in support of the National Government and to express his admiration for Premier Baldwin.

Next, he turned over a block of stock in his company, worth over ten million dollars, for the benefit of the 15,000 workers in his nine plants at Oxford, Coventry and Birmingham. He said he wanted them to be shareholders in the concern and enjoy dividends too. His scheme is to keep the block of stock intact, but every year to divide the dividends among the workers.

William Richard Morris was born at Cowley near Oxford in 1877, his parents being poor folk. As a youth of 16 he started working as an apprentice in a shop in Oxford where bicycles were sold and repaired. His accumulated savings, after a year, were just $25. With this he started a bicycle repair shop of his own in an obscure side street of Oxford. It was not long before he was building bicycles. Moreover, he became a racing cyclist to advertise his own wares and won seven championships in the counties of Oxfordshire, Buckinghamshire and Berkshire. He kept a step ahead of others when he foresaw a coming boom in motorcycles, so he began making them and prospered.

Next he conceived and built a cheap little motor car. He sold 400 his very first year. The war intervened and he turned to making munitions. At the war's end, he had to begin all over again, as his trained personnel was scattered and his machinery either worn out or changed. When depression hit the motor business and other English manufacturers sought to hold down production by raising the price of their cars, he built a popular car and cut his prices. His business flourished like the proverbial green bay tree. Soon he bought out a number of others and consolidated their plants with his.

Even with all the money he has given away, he is worth $100,000,000, taking into consideration only the market value of the stock he holds in his concern. Unlike other new millionaires who have been ennobled, he is not holding on to his money to found a new dynasty in the peerage. He has no son to whom the peerage will fall.

This childlessness is the one big sorrow in the lives of Lord Nuffield and his wife. They are one of the most devoted couples in England and she is the least publicized woman. Photos of her are unknown. When he was plain Bill Morris, she was Elizabeth Maud Anstey, young school teacher, whose father was an Oxford furrier. They wed 32 years ago. To-day, with everything money can buy, Lord Nuffield's three hobbies are his home, his work and his golf.

He still retains his plain little office, while some of his directors have palatial ones.

Value In Old Cars

Many Parts Salvaged And Re-vamped Into Something Else

Leaders of the American automobile industry estimate that during the next five years 15,000,000 automobiles now operated in the United States will be put on the scrap heaps. During those five years it is further estimated that 20,000,000 new cars will be made and sold, so that about 1942 there will be 5,000,000 more vehicles in the country than there are now.

It is estimated that the life of the average automobile is eight years. Some owners may hold onto their cars much longer than that, but the average car changes hands several times before it is finally discarded. As each year passes its value as well as its serviceability steadily diminish, until it reaches the stage when it becomes too dilapidated to operate except at cost of too much money and risk of accidents.

Many parts are salvaged and re-vamped into something else. There is an immense scrap-iron value in old cars, and the body of the rattling vehicle that may be seen on the streets this year may be part of the structure of a house, a ship, a locomotive or a thousand and one other uses next year. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Disappearance Of Ice Fleet

London Uses Artificial Product Instead Of Imported Article

Up to the outbreak of war in 1914, among the regular traders to the River were the brigs and bargues and wooden steamers which brought ice from Norway. Among the many results of the World War has been the entire disappearance of London River's ice fleet, for artificial ice has supplanted the imported article. Over in Norway, especially near Christiania and at the Skien Fjord, water spaces used to be carefully kept for the winter ice trade, and when a certain thickness had been reached ice ploughs with a sharp share were used to enable blocks of considerable size to be cut out for loading into ship or else transferred into storehouses by the water-side. Notable among the ice fleet were the Whitstable brigs, manned by British seamen, which regularly came up to Billingsgate market where the blocks were weighed on the ship's deck and then carried ashore by stalwart fish-porters. Some discharged in London Dock. P.L.A. Monthly.

"All the King's Horses and all the King's Men," so far as Canada's contribution to the coronation of H.M. King George VI. is concerned, will include 35 scarlet-coated members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and their smartly schooled horses.

Horses and men will not travel together. The mounts accompanied by six troopers, are scheduled to leave Montreal five days ahead of the party and will travel directly to London in the Canadian Pacific fast freighter Beaverhill. For their accommodation, padded stalls will be specially constructed in Montreal. Horse-loving members of the Beaverhill's crew have volunteered to assist in caring for the valuable animals during the Atlantic crossing.

The horses will be landed at the Surrey Commercial Docks in South London, thus obviating any train travel in England.

Return to Canada will be made aboard the Beaverford, sailing from London May 20

Headed For Museum

Gold Piano In White House Is Costly But Ugly

The venerable gold piano at the White House which came to live there in the Administration of Theodore Roosevelt is soon to retire to the National Museum. For thirty years it has served in a musical capacity and as a "sight" for sight-seers. Now it can be told, however, that it was not wholly a success in either respect. Talented musicians invited to play at the Executive Mansion have been known to hint that there were other pianos they would as willingly play. Its rococo magnificence escaped neither notice nor comment. And thereby hangs a tale:

Once upon a time an attractive young schoolteacher from Massachusetts shepherded a group of students to Washington to see the capital at vacation time. Of course, the East Room and the gold piano were among the sights. The young teacher stepped up to the piano and put her hand on it.

"Please do not touch the furniture," admonished a guard, tapping her on the shoulder.

This teacher told the story years later.

"The piano was so ugly I felt like kicking it," she said.

That teacher was Grace Goodhue. She became Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and found the piano still there when she became mistress of the White House. Evidently, she never changed her opinion about it, for she is said to have confessed that she did give it a couple of kicks when she could do so with no one say her nay.

Will Likely Take Part

Princess Elizabeth May Appear In Royal Procession At Coronation

Princess Elizabeth will probably take part in the Royal Procession in the Coronation, says the Daily Telegraph. Princess Margaret, on account of her age is expected only to "attend" the ceremony. Princess Elizabeth, who will then be 11 years old, may lead the procession of Princes and Princesses of the Blood Royal. She will probably wear a coronet, which she will place on her head when Queen Elizabeth is crowned. If she appears in the procession she will also wear a robe of her rank and be attended by members of the Royal Household. The Princess will do homage by placing her coronet on her head when the Queen is crowned—the homage performed by members of the feminine sex. Although heir-presumptive, she will not do homage with the peers, one reason being that she is a minor. The King and Queen and probably Princess Elizabeth will be central figures in the most notable dress rehearsal of the year—that for the Abbey pageant.

If not redeemed, jewels taken from smugglers are sold at public auction at the port where they were seized.

On the Nicobar Islands, in the Bay of Bengal coconuts are used as money.

Variations Within Forage Crops

Investigations Proceeding For Discovery Of Suitable Grasses

Experienced observers can easily recognize the principal forage crops, but many farmers find it difficult to distinguish between the principal grasses. Besides difference in appearance, the characteristic root development, drought resistance, winter hardiness and other qualities of the grasses and clovers are not readily perceived.

Within each forage crop, there exists a vast number of types which may be separated only by plant breeders or others schooled in the recognition of selections. Such work is in progress at many of the experimental stations of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and other agricultural institutions. Alfalfa was among the first to receive attention, though none of the Grimm selections have supplanted the parent material. Ladak is far from fixed in type, and the Dominion Sub-station at Beaverlodge and others are concentrating on isolating and developing some of the likely-looking strains.

To commercial stocks of Western ryegrass have been added wild types indigenous to the West and three main selections are now recognized—Grazier, Fyra and Mecca.

Brome is the best all-around grass for the Park belt but common stocks are difficult to eradicate. The Parkland selection, being more leafy and having less vigorous creeping roots, will soon be distributed and may overcome some of the shortcomings of the unselected material. As much can be said for other crops. While on the watch for valuable introductions from other lands, there is still plenty of improvement to be made on the material now at hand. Canada is a recognized leader in this phase of agricultural investigation.

Proved It All Wrong

Smart Student Had Professor Thinking Figures Can Lie

"Arithmetic is a science of truth," said the professor earnestly. "Figures can't lie. For instance, if one can build a home in twelve days twelve men can build it in one."

"Yes," interrupted a quick-brained student. "Then 288 will build it in one hour, 17,280 in one minute, and 1,036,800 in one second. And I do not believe they could lay one brick in that time."

While the professor was still gasping the smart "ready reckoner" went on:

"Again if one ship can cross the Atlantic in six days, six ships can cross it in one day. I don't believe that either; so where's the truth in arithmetic?"

Then he sat down.

Two large craft of the push-tug type are under construction at Sorel, Quebec, for use on the Mackenzie, Athabasca and Slave Rivers, 2,000 miles away in Canada's far north where many of the river bends are so short it is impossible to pull a scow around corners.

Construction of the two "tugs" writes an interesting page for ship-building in Canada. Similar craft are in use on the Nile in Egypt. Hitherto river navigation in the Canadian north has been in old type wooden stern wheelers. The new boats will be of the steel twin-screw tunnel type, permitting very shallow draft. The one designed for use on the Athabasca and Slave rivers draws only 21 inches when loaded.

After an extraordinary portage across half a continent, the boats will go into service this summer carrying supplies to the mining camps of the Northwest Territories and bringing back radium concentrates and other ores. This will mark another step in the northern march of civilization. The boats will be equipped with refrigeration chambers, making it possible for the first time to transport fresh meats and dairy products in quantity for regular distribution.

Of welded steel construction, the boats will be assembled just as they will be launched 2,000 miles away. Workmen will then saw them into 20-foot sections—like you would cut a cake. Thus they will be shipped on railway cars to railhead at Waterways and carried by sleigh and tractor to Fort McMurray.

Twenty-three passengers and a crew of ten will find accommodation on the first "tug" when it goes into service on the Athabasca and Slave Rivers between Fort McMurray and Fitzgerald in May. The vessel will be 86 feet long and 20 feet broad. It will afford cabin accommodation for eight passengers deck facilities for the others. The second boat will ply between Fort Smith and Fort Norman on the Mackenzie River and Great Slave Lake.

Of significance to the north country and to the mining industry of the Dominion is the fact these boats will make it possible to bring out three times the quantity of radium concentrates that can now be transported to railhead. They are being constructed for the Northern Transportation Company, wholly owned subsidiary of Eldorado Gold Mines Limited, whose radium mine is at Labine Point on Great Bear Lake.

Tartans In Demand

Scotland Receives Orders From Canada And Other Countries

Hand-woven tartan cloth is in demand, and throughout Renfrewshire, and more especially in the village of Kilbarchan in Scotland, famed for centuries for its hand-loom weaving, many orders have been received.

These are not only Scottish orders. Many have been received from abroad, especially from Australia, Canada, and America. Much of the work, of course, will be done on power-loom weaving machines.

Only the cloth is woven in Kilbarchan, and it is then sent to various firms to be made into kilts, scarves and rugs. Large quantities are being woven in every variety of tartan.

At one time there was a large number of weavers in Kilbarchan, but the group has now been reduced to 15, and these men, helped by their wives, are fully employed in coping with the orders.

Old Pottery Found

Pottery and hieroglyphics have been recently discovered in the mining country east of Lake Winnipeg in Manitoba. This indicates the presence of a race there 20,000 years ago that may have been related to the Egyptians.

Montreal, 1,000 miles from the Atlantic, is still 500 miles nearer Liverpool, England, than New York.

Germany is importing more chemicals than any other country.

The World of Wheat.

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "Crop Testing Plan."

Since the dawn of agriculture the dreaded black rust, like a giant scythe, has from time to time remorselessly cut down the farmers' fields of wheat.

In 1935, after several years of distressing drought, Manitoba and Saskatchewan had the promise, at last, of a bumper crop. Thirty, forty and fifty bushels to the acre were the words on everybody's lips. Alas! The rust crept in and the fine promise of a bountiful crop became a mockery. The horn of plenty was ruthlessly snatched from the very grasp of the expectant farmer.

Mr. H. Lillejord, of Arnaud, Manitoba, however, had a crop of good red spring wheat that matured unharmed by the rust. It was "Thatcher," a new rust-resistant variety, under development since 1907 by the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station. The Manitoba government purchased Mr. Lillejord's crop and distributed the seed, as far as it would go, to Manitoba farmers.

There was, however, none available for Saskatchewan. So, with the encouragement of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the "Crop Testing Plan" imported from Minnesota all the highest quality Registered Thatcher available from the best seed growers. Nine carloads were brought in and distributed at cost to some two thousand farmers in Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Intensive demand for wheat by certain European countries continues unabated -- Soviet spring sowings considerably behind schedule -- Wheat crop in the Orient expected to be below last year -- Drought affects rice crop in French Indo-China -- Siamese rice surplus for export smallest in five years.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Favorable weather in U.S. winter wheat belt -- Beneficial rains occur in Australia -- Corn prospects in Argentine good -- Egyptian corn yield above average -- Generous rains assure good cereal germination in Palestine -- U.S. total wheat acreage may be 68 million.

Items of Interest

Drumheller was again visited by a disastrous fire, when on Saturday night a $200,000 blaze swept through the White House Hotel Block. The buildings destroyed were the hotel, the city's oldest hostelry, the Valley Motors, the Red Bus Lines Terminal, White House Billiard Hall, the White House Cafe and Palace Cafe, while a rooming house operated by Mrs. P. Gillovitch was slightly damaged. The fire was thought to have originated in the rear basement of the Valley Motors. Employees of the garage, noticing flames darting out immediately above the boiler, located in the basement, sent in the alarm at about 10 o'clock.

Social Credit Notes.

The Didsbury Pioneer S. C. Group met at the home of Wm. Wesenberg on Monday, March 20th.

The meeting unanimously endorsed the day letter in support of the Premier, wired to E. P. Foster, local M. L. A., by the Didsbury Zone.

The Consumers' and Marketers' Cooperative League was again explained and discussed. Members approved of the movement by signing applications for membership in the League.

For its guest speaker the group had Mr. Norman Bowles, of Innisfail, who addressed the meeting on the "Report of the Special Committee on the B. N. A. Act." He revealed some astounding statements in the Constitution of Canada.

The meeting concluded in a surprise social for Mrs. Wesenberg, who is leaving Didsbury in the near future. The president, in behalf of the group, expressed deep regret in losing Mr. and Mrs. Wesenberg.

Next meeting will be a social evening and entertainment conducted by that committee Monday, April 5 in the Leuzler Block at 8 o'clock.

Message From Chief Scout

Service Is Recipe For Happy Life Says Lord Baden-Powell

The national office of the Boy Scouts of America, 2 Park Avenue, New York, made public a message it had received from Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement who recently celebrated his 80th birthday.

Lord Baden-Powell, who is the "chief Scout of the world," told the more than 2,000,000 Scouts in the world of the active life he has led, of the happiness he has obtained from being of service to others, and added:

"Eighty years may seem to you a long time but I can't remember a time when I wasn't busy, and as long as you are busy you can't help being cheerful. If ever you find yourself without something to do, remember there are always lots of people wanting help, old people or infirm and poor people, who would be only too glad of a helping hand.

"However poor or small you may be, you can always find some one worse off than yourself, ill or old or crippled. If you go and help them and cheer them up a funny thing happens. You find that by making others happy you are making yourself all the happier, too.

"I want you to have as long and jolly a life as I have had. You can get it if you keep yourself healthy and helpful to others. I will tell you my secret for this:

"I have always tried to carry out the Scout promise and the Scout law in all that I do. If you do that, you will make a success of your life and will have a very happy time, even if you live to 80."

Governor-General Lord Tweedsmuir is heading north this summer, through the Barren Lands and up the Mackenzie river valley to Aklavik on the rim of the Arctic Circle, and part of his tour through the northwest will be made by aeroplane.

The vice-regal party will be in Calgary for the stampede July 9 and 10. From there His Excellency will likely go for a week to the vicinity of Red Deer and Rocky Mountain House.

On July 21 Lord Tweedsmuir will leave Waterways for Aklavik by boat arriving there about Aug. 6. Then he intends to fly to Herschel Island, 100 miles north of Aklavik, and he will return to Edmonton by air.

Very Few Orators Now

Speakers Of To-Day Are Lacking In Eloquence

Years ago platform speakers abounded, and their orations were listened to by many thousands. There were great preachers also in those days, and while men went to church to be thrilled with divine eloquence, that was better than not going at all. Oratory is not so noticeable today. The Lauriers, the Oslers, and the Blackstocks of the law are seldom heard now because their counterparts do not exist. Men travelled long distances in their day to hear them present cases to juries. Few bother to-day, because the eloquence for which they were famous died with their passing.—Guelph Mercury.

Mrs. W. Baker of Route 6, Cobourg, Ont., said: "I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription through the change of life and felt so well I still take it occasionally to keep me well and make me have a good night's rest. I find it wonderful for a case of 'nerves'." Buy now! New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00.

Gardening

The main object of pruning, whether it be rose bushes, fruit trees or flowering shrubs, is to open up the centre of the growth so that sunshine and air may penetrate freely and also, of course, to produce a symmetrical plant. Naturally any dead or weak growth should be removed and also branches that rub against each other.

Early March until late in June is usually considered the best time for this sort of work but there are a few specific exceptions. Most of these are the early blooming shrubs, such as the Forsythia. These should be left until after blooming. Grapes must be pruned early in March to avoid excessive bleeding. Raspberries are pruned after the crop has been produced and then all the year-old canes should be removed, leaving only the new shoots.

The best arrangement for starting seed indoors is a hot-bed, though where only a few plants of each variety are required a shallow box in a sunny window will be sufficient. A hot-bed simply consists of an old window sash laid on a wooden framework about 18 inches high, which contains two inches of fine garden soil on a layer of fresh, slightly strawy, horse manure or some other heat-providing material. In an open place and facing the South dig a pit of the same dimensions as the window-frame and about a foot deep. Into this put the manure. (If frost prevents digging, simply pile on top of the ground.) The layer of manure should be about 18 inches thick when well pressed down. It is held in place by the sides of the pit and the frame. On top is placed two inches of light garden soil, preferably mixed with a little sand. The window is fitted snugly into place on top and should be about nine inches above the soil at the front and 15 inches at the back to allow rain to run off and also to catch the full rays of the sun. At the first the soil will heat rapidly, but in about three days it will have cooled to around 80 degrees which is the proper temperature.

The seed is planted in rows about two inches apart, and the bed watered frequently. On warm days it will be necessary to ventilate by raising the window frame an inch or so. When the second set of leaves develop, thin. About three weeks before going outside, the seedlings are transplanted to a cold frame, which is the same as a hot-bed only without the heating manure. Here they are hardened thoroughly before being set out in their permanent quarters. When started in the house the procedure is practically the same, only of course, no heating material is needed. Boxes about three inches deep are filled with a mixture of sand and light soil and placed in a bright window where, preferably, there is a double glass to prevent cold draughts at night.

Planes Banned For Day

No aeroplane will be permitted to fly over London on Coronation Day, May 12, the air ministry warned aviators. The ban will be in effect for 24 hours, from midnight May 11 to midnight May 12. Flights will be prohibited within a radius of five miles from Buckingham Palace.

Shanghai, China, will inspect tea to improve export quality.

Forty-Shilling Day Observed In Churchyard At Surrey, England

Candlemas Day was the occasion of a curious ceremony in the churchyard at Wotton, Surrey, England. Under the will of William Granville, who died over two centuries ago, eight boys of the district stood by his tomb, with one hand upon it, and repeated from memory the Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer and the Apostles' Creed. Those who made the citation without mistake each received £2. The anniversary, says the News of the World, is known as Forty-Shilling Day.

THE YELLOW BRIAR

A Story of the Irish on the Canadian Countryside

By PATRICK SLATER

By arrangement with Thomas Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER I

Out in the Ontario countryside, the late spring is a pleasing and soul-mellowing season of the year. It commences once the seeding is done; and lasts until the chattering mower starts to mishandle its pitman shaft. In those sweet-smelling, warm, soft, juicy days of early June, the fields everywhere are bursting with fresh young life. After the dry fodder of a long winter, the cattle have had time to purge their bowels with the rich, lush grasses; and their skins have been softened, and the dirty warts on their flanks have been loosened by the warm spring rains. The air is as soaked with delicious hope as the meadows with the dew.

It is for such an inviting scene that the silent and wary thrush descends the South; and it is the rapture of it filling his breast that turns him into the saucy and intimately friendly robin who insists on nesting in the most obvious places about my kitchen stoop. Plain for me to understand, he tells me the time is now at hand to "Cheer up! D'ye hear? Let joy be unconfined!"

Perhaps you think the mellow tones of the late autumn should make a stronger appeal to an old fellow like me. Faith no! Sure an Irish heart is always youthful. Before we grow old, we live in hope of things here; when we are grown

WHEN HE LOOKS IN YOUR EYES!

Do they flash and sparkle; or does he find them dull and unattractive?

If your eyes are dull or have a yellow tinge, it's probably because your liver isn't functioning properly. Your liver affects almost every part of your body and if it gets out of kilter you can't look well, you can't be well. So keep your liver healthy by taking Fruit-a-tives. This famous remedy contains extracts of fruits and herbs and acts to stimulate the liver to normal healthy action; activates the flow of bile, cleanses the elimination tract, and helps 4 other vital organs of the body. Do not let your liver affect your looks. Start taking Fruit-a-tives today. Your druggist has them. Cost is low, only 25c; 50c. And insist on genuine "Fruit-a-tives".

old, we live in hope of things hereafter. The weight of years that burden the flesh presses lightly on the spirit of an old Irishman.

In this northern clime, harvest-time has always seemed to me a serene and gloomy season. I have seldom seen men come rejoicing, bringing in the sheaves and never in a barley harvest. The nights commence settling down early, and come upon us with an abrupt suddenness. The air bites a bit in the early mornings; and, here and there, the furtive time marks the midnight prowling of the frost king, who already plans to reassert his sovereign rights. If the crops have been poor, the scanty contents of the barns distress us; and if Nature has been over bountiful, the prices offered are more distressing still. The farmer's is a gambler's job. Old Mother Earth rolls the bones for him. In the spring, he has laid his wager, and his hope hangs high.

It is pleasant to watch the young gambol on the hillside pastures and punch the swollen udders of their dams. It is sweet to smell the pungent, homely earth in its creative mood. It is refreshing to feel the mild sunshine strike down, casual-like, filtering through a screen of opalescent emerald. This is the season for loafing a bit about an Ontario farm; and, in the afternoon that now concerns us, I beg to advise that, as for me and my household, we were busy loafing. The hired man was going through the slow motions of mending the orchard fence. His stomach must have stood the cooking we were getting better than mine; because he was whistling some tune about the murmur of a waterfall. I had been down to the lower hundred salting the young cattle. They looked to be doing fine.

About the old lawn and in the fence corners, the stinking burdocks were sticking their miserable snouts up in the air—and looking healthy. It is a caution the things that require fixing about a farm; and continue requiring it. I got the axe from the woodshed, and set about sinking its sharp blade well below the crowns of those burdocks with a view to destroying them utterly and in orderly detail. I have carried on a personal warfare against them on this farm, on and off, for over seventy years. Making rhymes was everyone's foible at times in the early days; and a red-headed hired boy once cracked a good one at my expense:

On Mono's hills, the farmer grubs along,
And, like the Indian, chants a dismal song.
On rainy days, out you see him stalk
To tomahawk the healthy young burdock.

That young man's Christian name was Wendell—we called him Pepper-top for short. He was discharged before his time was up—not because of the poetry, but because of grey cooties. He went into the milling business, and in after years became a director of a chartered bank.

Several times after absences of years, I have returned to reduce to complete subjection the burdocks on this farm. And it was all to do again. But, lately and right under my nose, they seem to be getting a little ahead of the old man. And this struck me as pitiable in a way. After my battles against her weeds and grasses crowding in upon me, Nature seemed to say: "Ah, ah, old thing! We've got you on the run at last." Even the fields—my beautiful grain fields—have become mere hay and pasture lands; and I have fallen to the low estate of a lean-necked, grass-land farmer. Father in Heaven, what have I done to deserve this? The soil of this farm has been a life-long sweetheart of mine; and the glint of a plowshare polished with use once helped me in my courting.

Scalping burdocks is a good job for an old man—if he will stick at it. All it requires is patience; and there is plenty of time for thinking. What a job it was, thought I, for a seedy old bachelor like me to get an orderly woman to stick at housekeeping on a farm. How could it be otherwise—so cold and drafty in the winter time? Now here was the widow Wilkie. I did not like her sloppy porridge, or her sniffing ways. But she put up with my dog in the kitchen; so I put up with her on the farm. Well, anyway, I was master of a home of my own—such as it was—which was more than many the father of a large family could ever boast.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR

I glanced over my shoulder. Unbeknownst to me, a long, slim, low-hung car had come up the lane and was making a silent stop within a few feet of where I was kneeling. A colored man in chocolate uniform sat at the wheel. There was a detached air of well-groomed luxuriousness about the vehicle. Now I know quite a bit about motor cars myself. I was the first person in this district to own one. I bought a touring car, brand new; and on Sunday for years, when the roads were in good condition, I drove it regularly to Mass. At other times, I hitched up the buggy. I do not drive my car now; but I have it in the barn, jacked up to save the tires. The copper on the radiator is as bright as it ever was, and there is not a scratch anywhere to be seen. And then, for years, there has been an orgy of car buying among the neighboring farmers, who have been busy motoring themselves out of the well-to-do class.

But compared with the cars hereabouts, the motor with the saffron driver was a buxom queen bee to a humble little worker.

"Jimmie crickets!" said I to myself. "Some class!"

I felt a stiffening in my joints in the rising. Then I walked over toward the tipsy old picket-fence.

His nibs in the leggings hopped around to open the door, and out of the paunch of the vehicle stepped a young woman who fluttered over toward me. Not that I could say she was a young person, right off, at first. The way women dress nowadays, it is next to impossible to tell, offhand, how old they are—unless they are over forty.

"Are you Mr. Patrick Slater?" she enquired; and her voice was low and pleasing.

I dislike a woman who uses her nose as a sounding board.

"Yes," I said. "I am old Paddy Slater."

Then I found myself chatting with a very lovely young girl whose blue-grey eyes were soft and friendly. She stood as straight as a whip; and she looked me square in the face. I had seen those eyes many a time before. Her mouth was pleasant and sweet. Her clothes every day would be the same as Sunday, with the neatness of the pretty girl—so comely and smiling.

I do not mention her name; because, as they say in the army: "No names, no pack drill." My young friend may happen to read this, and she might not like it.

Little Helps For This Week

Why art thou cast down O my soul, and why art thou disquieted within me? Hope thou in God, for I shall yet praise Him who is the health of my countenance, and my God. Psalm 42.2.

Why by passing clouds oppressed, Should vexing thoughts distract thy breast?

Turn thou to Him in every pain, Whom never suppliant sought in vain;

Thy strength in joy's ecstatic day, Thy hope when joy has passed away.

Beware of letting your care degenerate into anxiety and unrest, tossed as you may be amid the waves and winds of sundry troubles, but keep your eyes fixed on the Lord and say "My God I look to Thee alone; be Thou my guide and pilot", and then be comforted. When the shore is gained who will heed the toil and the storm. We shall steer safely through as long as our heart is right and our courage steadfast, and our trust is placed in God. All the storms we have to encounter are but opportunities for us to strengthen ourselves in the loving graces which our dear Lord sets before us.

Pigeons Are Happy

The Christian Science Monitor says San Francisco pigeons, could they be quoted, would be among these happiest over the end of the 98-day maritime strike. Sea gulls had begun to "muscle in" on pigeon territory at Civic Center Plaza, Union Square, and even on downtown streets as pickings became scarce with ship traffic at a standstill.

Some people cannot be accused of being quitters. They never get started.

Cost Would Be Prohibitive

Erection Of New Crystal Palace In London Unlikely

Is there to be a second Crystal Palace on the site of the old? It is highly unlikely that even if another house of entertainment should arise it will take the form of the former huge house of glass. The cost, for one thing, would be prohibitive.

The old Crystal Palace, moreover, is believed to have been a fine landmark for hostile aircraft during the war, much in the same way as the Thames proved another excellent guide for enemy airmen. In spite of this the Palace became "H.M.S. Crystal Palace" during the war when it was used for the training of the Royal Naval Division. Probably the government will be asked to give its aid to the building of a new palace, and its attitude towards such a scheme would obviously be influenced by consideration of national safety.

The Crystal Palace, which was a reconstruction of the building built for the Great Exhibition of 1851 in Hyde Park, cost $7,500,000.

Argentina has decreed that all imported cider must be analyzed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny. A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from any druggist, a package of Hemroid and used as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.
